A Message from our Director

Greetings from the Paulding County Office of Economic Development,

2020 has undoubtedly been a turbulent year for all businesses. Despite the exciting start to the year, the mid-year disappointments, and the many bumps in the road along the way, the Paulding County Economic Development Office has remained steadfast in providing positive communication and support for our county businesses. Our goal was to be available and offer as much help in every way possible to as many existing businesses as we could. Surprisingly, this communication fostered some new growth and entrepreneurial opportunities we did not expect at this time. It is only through the generous support from you, our investing members noted in this report, that this was made possible.

As we look forward to 2021, we understand that not every business will rebound in the same manner. Our hope is regardless of how you rebound, you would keep your economic development office in your business plans and continue to support this 501c3 Organization. Together, Paulding County will be working toward existing workforce training, new workforce development, and county infrastructure development. Our goal is to work toward establishing Paulding County as an active area economy contender. Remember to buy local and support those that support your economic development office in this wonderful Ohio county. Please reach out and let us know how we can help your business.

Together we are #PauldingCountyStrong

Tim Copsey, Director

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT INVESTORS

The Antwerp Exchange Bank is proud to be a long-time supporter of Paulding County Economic Development, Inc. We are also grateful to call Paulding County home. With offices in Antwerp, Payne, and our new office in Harlan, IN, we look forward to a future of serving our community, with the goals of health and prosperity for us all.

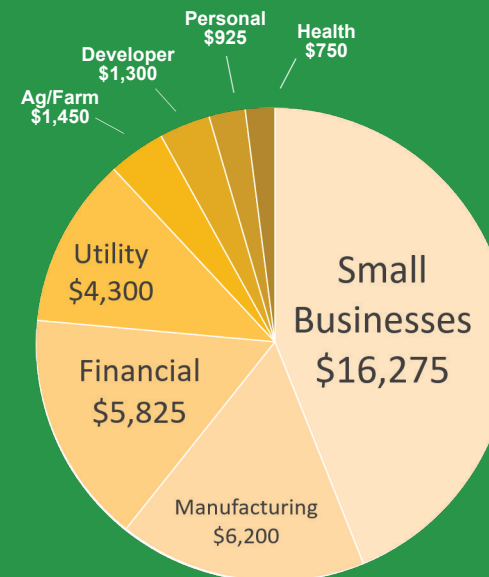

InSource stands out when there is a large variety of custom controls, wire harnesses, and refrigeration systems to build. We are essential to our customers in managing complexity while also responding quicker than the rest of their supply base. We respond to customer needs with flexibility, fast shop flow, and scalable capacity. We are thankful for the quality of people in Paulding County and glad we can grow our team here. At the same time, uncertain labor capacity has provided the biggest challenge to achieving our goals. In response, we are increasing our use of automation and embracing the challenges of implementation in a high-mix product environment. We are focused on ideas that increase our response to demand spikes with more scalable capacity. We continue to invest in local engineering scholarships, hire interns, and recruit Paulding County engineers to remain in the area. Finally, we are thankful to God for each other and strong business demand in uncertain times.
